

FORD

20460

(2)

1738826, 1786867, 1804810, 1836648, 2208653

The image displays two views of a mechanical component, likely a pump or motor assembly. The top view shows the component from a perspective that highlights its cylindrical body, a flange on the left, and a textured, possibly heat-treated or coated, section on the right. The bottom view shows the component from a different angle, revealing more of its internal structure and the mounting bracket on the right side. Both views are rendered in a light gray color against a white background.